

DH27 - Rauf:

SC-Student collaborations

WHEN SELF-DIRECTED VIA MEETS COUNCIL COLLABORATIONS

the issues:

As of now, students have the option of participating in self-directed VIA. However, very few students do.

Most students rarely have the opportunity to try their hands at working with the school to organise events, usually only limited to student leaders.

rationale:

less daunting to approach a fellow student than a teacher

so why not...

an initiative where students are given the opportunity to work with SC to organise school events, including self-directed ones.

VIA points included!*

students and SCs can work more closely, creating a closer connection between SC and the student body

more people to work with = lighter workload
& better products

Interested students can simply approach a student councillor if they have something in mind to organise. If approved, they may then work with councillors to bring their idea to life!
